Summary: In October of 2008, Carlsbad Police received an anonymous tip from the San Diego County Crimestoppers which indicated that REID was operating a prostitution ring in various locations throughout San Diego county. The "tipster" indicated that REID had numerous females working for her and that she rented houses for the girls to work from.

The tip indicated that the prostitution was operated out of a business called "Glamour Massage", through "glamourmassage.com" and that REID was responsible for hiring and training the girls. Through investigation, three addresses were developed and detectives began a lengthy and time-consuming investigation into Glamour Massage.

After extensive surveillances, prostitution operations and with extensive assistance from the San Diego Police Vice Unit, Carlsbad detectives were able to obtain search warrants for five of REID's residences, four she rented and one she owned. Carlsbad and San Diego Vice detectives were able to obtain multiple prostitution violations over the course of the investigation.

After the execution of those warrants in December of 2009, REID was arrested and charged with five counts of Pimping, 266(a) P.C. and one count of Pandering, 266i (a) P.C.

In March of 2010, REID plead guilty to all of the charges and is currently awaiting sentencing. REID could face 2-3 years in custody.

The web site and business closed down as of February, 2010.
